

PsycEXTRA Coverage Agreement

PsycEXTRA, a companion database to the scholarly PsycINFO, links clinicians, librarians, consumers, policy-makers, and researchers to a variety of credible information sources covering psychology, behavioral science, and health ("PsycEXTRA" or "Database"). PsycEXTRA is a finding and linking tool for gray literature in the behavioral and social sciences. Documents include newsletters, magazines, newspapers, technical and annual reports, government reports, consumer brochures, and more. PsycEXTRA is different from PsycINFO in its coverage, and also in its format, because it includes abstracts and citations plus full text for a portion of the records. The American Psychological Association, the world's leading publisher in psychology, will launch PsycEXTRA as the latest in its electronic products in early 2004.

This Agreement is between _____ (Content Owner) and the American Psychological Association (APA) and dated as of _____, 200_.

Content Owner shall provide APA with certain content to be included in the PsycEXTRA database at <http://psycextra.apa.org> ("Content"). In order for APA to accept and include the Content, Content Owner agrees to the following:

1. Content Owner retains all copyright and other rights to the original Content but grants APA a non-exclusive perpetual license to use any Content submitted to APA now or in the future as contemplated herein.
2. Content owner grants APA a royalty free non-exclusive license to create citations and abstracts for all the Content supplied to APA for PsycEXTRA and include it in the PsycEXTRA Database together with the full text of the publication. APA shall be the copyright proprietor of such citations and abstracts as it creates.
3. Content may be distributed in any language in any media worldwide in the PsycEXTRA database and any of its derivative products. APA will have copyright ownership in the PsycEXTRA database.
4. Content Owner will provide copies of Content for coverage promptly as titles are published on a complimentary basis for possible coverage in PsycEXTRA.
5. Delivery of Content to APA assures that APA will consider it for inclusion; however, APA reserves the right in its sole judgment to determine whether Content shall be included in the Database. Further, APA reserves the right to remove Content from the Database at any time.
6. Content Owner warrants that it owns the Content and has the authority to grant licenses as set forth under Section 1 & 2 above and that to the best of its knowledge, the Content provided is not defamatory or otherwise offensive.
7. If Content Owner should decide to discontinue providing Content to APA for PsycEXTRA, APA shall retain the rights afforded by Sections 1 & 2 and to disseminate all Content previously provided.
8. Inclusion of any Content by APA in the PsycEXTRA database does not constitute an endorsement by APA of the Content, the positions contained therein, or the Content Owner. Content Owner hereby agrees that it will make no representations to any third parties that inclusion of its Content in the Database is approval or endorsement by APA of the Content, the positions contained therein or the Content Owner.
9. APA shall provide full credit to the Content Owner for all Content included in PsycEXTRA and shall include the Content Owner's name in all lists of sources for Content in PsycEXTRA.
10. APA shall provide Content Owner with access to the Database solely for the Content the Content Owner has provided to PsycEXTRA. Such access, which shall be free of charge to the Content Owner, shall be limited to Content Owner only and may not be shared with any third party.
